The Forest Products Laboratory is maintained in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) prohibits discrimination in all its programs and activities on the basis of race, color, national origin, gender, religion, age, disability, political beliefs, sexual orientation, or marital or familial status. (Not all prohibited bases apply to all programs.) Persons with disabilities who require alternative means for communication of program information (Braille, large print, audiotape, etc.) should contact the USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TDD). To file a complaint of discrimination, write USDA, Director, Office of Civil Rights, Room 326-W, Whitten Building, 14th and Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-9410, or call (202) 720-5694 (voice and TDD). USDA is an equal employment opportunity employer.

Preface

Within the State and Private Forestry branch of the USDA Forest Service, the Forest Products Technology Marketing and Utilization (TMU) staff is a highly specialized group of technical professionals with particular expertise in processing, converting, and adapting forest resources into goods and services. These professionals are also present in other Federal programs such as USDA's Extension programs and the Department of Interior's Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). However, the largest pool of professionals lies within the State governments for utilization and marketing (U&M) of their forest resources.

Many traditional U&M programs foster resource conservation by helping timber harvesters, manufacturers, and users of forest products to be as efficient and effective as possible. This is done by providing technical assistance and recommendations for improvement. Where warranted, companies are advised to seek the additional services of private sector consultants. In addition to these traditional U&M programs, economic development, small-diameter and underutilized species, recycling, special forest products, and value-added product processing are being emphasized.

Forest Products Utilization and Marketing technical experts encourage and facilitate conservation of forest resources in their conversion and adaptation to forest products and services that meet the needs of people and improve their economic well-being while sustaining our forests and natural resources.

Utilization and Marketing personnel listed in this directory serve as a cadre of professionals who encourages sustainable forestry through forest products utilization practices and seeks to perpetuate healthy, vigorous forests for future generations.

This directory has been assembled and updated by the U&M Technology Marketing Unit at the Forest Products Laboratory (FPL) to assist each of us in our networking. Our intent is to make this document as accurate as possible, and we solicit your support in keeping it up to date. A copy is available online via FPL's website: <http://www.fpl.fs.fed.us/> under the category "Other Resources." We will periodically update the online copy, so please notify us of any changes that need to be made. We look forward to working with each of you in your forest products utilization and marketing efforts. USDA Forest Service State & Private Forestry Technology Marketing Unit
